Save the Date: June 22, Commercial Sector Program Design Brown Bag -

The content of this Brown Bag will be the same information that was discussed on the Brown Bag held on May 18. Over the past 12 months, BPA has been working with utility customers, regional stakeholders, and industry partners to assess utility needs and develop our next generation commercial sector energy efficiency program offering. Join us on June 22 from 12:00 p.m. – 1:00 p.m. where we evolve from program concept to an operational program design. We will provide a summary of the proposed program design, including timing and scope, implementation delivery methods, costs, and energy savings delivered. More information to come.

General

Commercial Program Design Request for Public Comment -

Over the past 12 months, BPA has been working with utility customers, regional stakeholders, and industry partners to assess utility needs and develop our next generation commercial sector energy efficiency program offering. We have finalized a proposal for this program and utilities and stakeholders are invited to provide feedback on the proposed Commercial Sector Program Design. BPA will consider all comments as part of our final program design. More detail can be found on BPA's Public Comment Website.
